Seen & Heard Around Murray

We used to go to the cabinet when we needed a clean dish, glass, knife or fork, now we go to the dishwasher. Seems that it is fairly easy to fill the thing up just to clean up the place. It is also fairly easy to push the button that starts the wheezy monster into motion. But, when it comes to putting up all the clean dishes and things from the dishwasher, this proves to be extremely difficult if not impossible.

Met a fellow last night who was born in the Yucatan, home of the Mayan culture.

Says he used to play baseball next to the ancient temples of the Mayas, much to our envy.

The complete lack of logic in the present taxing setup in Calloway County is depicted so well in the information released that in spite of increased assessments in the county, there will be no corresponding increase in funds received by the schools. Of course this same fact is true all over the state because of House Bill I which freezes the school tax income. If assessments go up, the school tax must be decreased so that the taxpayer pays no more than he did.

The only way the schools can get more money is by a special voted tax by the people. Even if assessments increased 100 per cent or 200 per cent, schools would still get no more, the school tax rate would merely be cut to the point where they received the same income as last year.

Two of the nicest folks you would ever want to meet, Dr. and Mrs. James Parr.

Places around town where hedges, walls, etc. make blind corners. Residents who have such obstructions to traffic would do well to remove them or reduce them in height.

In no case should a motorist have to ease out into an intersection to see if anyone is approaching.

Take note of the intersectional accidents released each month by Councilman Max Weaver and the Police Department. Highest incidence of accidents is at 12th and Story, double the number at any other intersection over a three month period.

"Doctor, I can't understand why I get so many headaches," complained the young man. "I don't drink, smoke, stay out late, or even bother with women. What's wrong, doc?"

"Perhaps," replied the doctor, "your halo is on too tight!"

Murray Optimist Club President, Jerry Bowden and board members, James Thompson and Dan Boaz look over the final plans for the Optimist Club Scholarship Program. The program is designed to assist local young men desiring to attend Murray State University. Three $200 scholarships will be awarded for the 1970-71 school year.

Optimist Club Announces Scholarships

The Murray Optimist Club announced today the establishment of an Optimist Club Scholarship Program for local male, high school seniors desiring to attend Murray State University.

The scholarship awards for the first year will be three $200 awards with primary consideration being given to young men with a financial need. This program is in keeping with the overall goal of the Optimist Club which is to help deserving, needy young men.

Club president, Jerry Bowden, said that funds for this program were derived from the Optimist Club Christmas Tree Sale and Cushion Sale.

Graduating male students from Calloway County, Murray High School, and University School interested in applying for the scholarship are urged to immediately contact their guidance counselors for the necessary application forms. Additional information may be obtained by contacting Tommy Marshall at 762-2546 or 753-8452.

Willard Ails Is Kirksey Speaker

Willard Ails, head pharmacist at the Murray-Calloway County Hospital, spoke on "Drug Abuse" at the meeting of the Kirksey Elementary School Parent-Teacher Association held on Tuesday evening at the school.

Ails placed the drugs in four categories namely stimulants, depressants, narcotics, and non-medical substances. He told of the dangers of many of the drugs and urged the young people not to use them. He was introduced by Lubie Parrish.

Mrs. Harold Fones presented gifts from the PTA to the eighth grade mothers whose last child in school is graduating from the eighth grade this year. They were Mesdames James C. Paschall, L. E. Outland, Paul D. Jones, Jack Cain, Joe Willard, Fred Butterworth, Bun H. Hughes, Robert Hoke, Harry Potts, A. J. Marshall, John Puckett, Clayton Adams, Darrell Brandon, Dorothy Lamb, Freelon Pierce, Aubrey Newsome, Clayborne Crick, John Tucker, and Jerry Bazzell.

Carl Howard read from 1 Corinthians 4:16-17 and led in prayer for the devotion.

The slate of new officers for the coming year was read by Mrs. Jimmy Wilson. Elected were Mrs. Fones, president, Mrs. Rudy Lovett, vice-president, Mrs. Bill Crick, secretary, and Mrs. Jewel McCallon, treasurer.

Named to the auditing committee were Mrs. Alvin Usrey, Mrs. Elvin Crouse, and Mrs. Pat Bogard.

Mrs. Fones announced that the potluck supper for the men's and women's basketball teams will be held Saturday, May 9, at the school. Trophies will be given and everyone is urged to attend.

The room count was won by the eighth grade, and refreshments were served by the sixth grade mothers, Mrs. M. B. Rogers, teacher.

Kiwanis Club Sets Donut Sale Thursday

The Kiwanis Club of Murray will hold its annual spring donut sale on the north side of town Thursday, April 30th between 5 and 6 p. m.

Price of the donuts will be 75 cents per dozen and proceeds of the sale will be used for community projects sponsored by the Kiwanis Club.

Club members will be assisted in the sale by members of the Circle K club of Murray State University.

Laker Songfest Planned Thursday

The Sixth Annual Laker Songfest will be presented by the choral department of the Calloway County High School on Thursday, April 30, at 7:30 p. m. in Jeffrey Gym.

The Mixed Chorus, Girls Chorus, and Freshman Chorus, will present the program under the direction of Mrs. Josiah Darnall, and Miss Geraldine Verrigni, the present student teacher.

The program will feature songs from a well-known Broadway musical, "Brigadoon." This musical has been performed more than any other stage production.

Among other selections will be "A Time For Us" from Romeo and Juliet, "If Ever I Would Leave You" from Camelot, and "Young Americans", a modern pop tune, "Come to the Fair" by Martin, and "My Beloved" by Brahms.

The Calloway Laker Band, directed by David Berry, will also play for the program.

A reception will be held following the program where the Art Department will display several works. Larry Dunn is the art instructor.

Everyone is cordially invited to attend. Tickets will be on sale at the door for sixty and thirty cents.

Field Training For ROTC Cadets Set At Kentucky Lake Friday

ROTC cadets from Murray State University will participate in field training on Kentucky Lake just north of Wild Cat Creek, Friday and Saturday, May 1 and 2.

The training will consist of day and night compass courses, night patrolling, and a series of small unit leadership reaction problems. The training is designed to prepare the cadets for their six week summer camp training this summer.

The training will begin at approximately 5 p. m. Friday, May 2 and end approximately 12 noon Saturday, May 3.

"All persons in the area should be aware that cadets that are blank ammunition, artillery simulators, and other devices to simulate field combat conditions will be used," a spokesman said.

Three Collisions Are Investigated Tues

Three traffic collisions were investigated by the Murray Police Department on Tuesday.

The first occurred at 8:30 a. m. on Kentucky Avenue. Cars involved were a 1965 Plymouth driven by Mavis Manning Gibbs of 917 North 18th Street, and a 1968 Ford Fairlane owned by Joseph L. Rose and driven by Barbara Anderson Rose of 1810 Sherrie Lane, Murray.

Police said the Gibbs car was going north on Kentucky Avenue and that she stopped for the stop sign. Mrs. Rose, going west on Ryan Avenue, said the Gibbs car started across the street and so to keep from hitting the Gibbs car she swerved to the right hitting the fire hydrant, according to the police report. Mrs. Gibbs said she backed her car up from the original position, the police report said.

No damage was reported to the Gibbs car, but the Rose car was damaged on the front end. The fire hydrant was knocked over in the accident, according to the police report.

Ninth and Poplar Streets was the scene of the collision at 2:50 p. m.

Cars involved were a 1967 Buick four door driven by Maxine Melton Mason of Lynnville, and a 1964 Plymouth two door owned by Jackie Cooper and driven by Kyato Motomoto Cooper of 212 South 18th Street.

Police said the Mason car was going north on 9th and the Cooper car was going east on Poplar. Both had pulled up to the four way stop, the police report said.

Damage to the Mason car was on the left front end and to the Cooper car on the right front and side.

Tuesday afternoon a collision occurred on Maple Street between a car driven by Loman Rudell Bogard of 506 South 11th Street and a 1967 Chevrolet pickup owned by C. E. Cherry and driven by John A. McCracken of Dover, Tenn.

Bogard was going west on Maple Street when McCracken backed out from a parking space hitting the Bogard car on the right rear side, according to the police report.

Mrs. Norma Jean Bogard, a passenger in the car, reported to be suffering pain in the neck, the police report said.

Three From Murray High Attend Workshop

Eli Alexander, John Hina and Eula Mae Doherty from the Murray Independent school system attended a one-day workshop on teaching the inquiry method in social studies conducted by the Region I, ESEA Title III project at Kentucky Dam Village last week.

John Good, co-author of the Fenton social studies materials, told participants from school systems throughout Western Kentucky, "There is no such thing as educated — past tense, denoting completion. There is only education — an ongoing process that is lifelong. Knowledge of facts and generalizations is important — indeed essential — are the ability and motivation of the student to judge and assimilate new information far beyond the confines of the classroom. This is the true challenge to social studies education today."

Torrential Rains Drench Kentucky Tuesday; Four Die

At least four persons drowned in Kentucky Tuesday, as torrential spring rains drenched the state, causing a train derailment and evacuations at Harlan and Calvary.

Stephen T. Burden II, 2, son of Mr. and Mrs. Stephen T. Burden, Lewisport, was drowned in Hancock County when he slipped into a rain-swollen drainage ditch.

State police said an unidentified teen-aged boy drowned in Clay County near Goose Rock.

A Ft. Knox private from California, was drowned Tuesday when an M-113 armored personnel carrier was swept down stream as it crossed Dry Branch, three miles south of post.

Four other soldiers escaped from the vehicle.

The PIO said his parents still had not been contacted by 9 a. m. today.

Mitchell Mulligan, 6, apparently drowned when he fell from a bridge into Silver Creek, Madison County, in the Bluegrass region of Kentucky. Rescue workers continued a search for the body today.

A rockslide in the mountains of southeastern Kentucky forced five cars of a northbound Louisville & Nashville Railroad coal train to derail, crushing the engine and trapping its driver in the cab.

Engineer Donald Hall, 28, of Irvine, was trapped for more than an hour as rescue crews worked to clear rocks. He was listed in serious condition at Good Samaritan Hospital, Lexington, with head injuries and a broken arm.

A number of families remained away from their homes today after flood waters in southeastern Kentucky forced their evacuation. The largest evacuation was in Harlan, where about 35 families were taken from houses in the low-lying areas.

At Harlan, headwaters of the Cumberland River reached a 19-foot crest, just below flood stage. State Police reported "a multitude of slides" in the Cumberland River Valley.

A strong wind and electric storm knocked out telephone service to several hundred persons in Fayette County earlier in the day and left many families without electricity.

A Kentucky utilities spokesman said the company received about 300 calls Tuesday of power failures, mostly from the southern end of the county.

In Louisville, where April rains have set a record high of 11.01 inches for the month, the slowly rising Ohio River threatened Thursday's steamboat race between the Belle of Louisville and Cincinnati's Delta Queen.

Officials have said any reading near 18.4 feet would make holding the race difficult. The depth on the upper gauge at the McAlpine lock and dam reached more than 17 feet today.

Swift currents make the old sternwheelers hard to handle and muddy ground and high water at the dock site could make it difficult to board passengers.

A final decision on the race is due today.

An unmanned towboat which broke loose from its moorings at Boonesboro on the Kentucky River was guided back to shore at Clays Ferry on the Madison-Fayette County line several hours later.

Ernest Cannon, lockmaster at Kentucky River Dam No. 9, said heavy rains had caused the "Sharmrock" to break loose from its Boonesboro moorings where it had been kept during the winter months.

Cannon said John Kelly, dock operator at Clays Ferry, and several other workers headed the large craft toward the shore with a barricade of motorboats.

A barge that was connected to the towboat sank when the craft broke away from its Boonesboro dock.

Annual Water Ballet Set For Weekend

"Happiness Is" will be the theme of the fifth annual synchronized water ballet to be presented by the Sea Mists of Murray State University April 30-May 1, 2.

Scheduled for 8 p. m. in the Carr Health Building on the campus, the program will consist of 12 numbers by the 15-member swimming group, which is under the direction of Miss Nita Graham, health and physical education instructor and organizer of the Sea Mists.

Each girl will perform in various numbers — with the finale entitled "Happiness Is — Being a Sea Mist" to include the entire group. One solo, two duos and one trio will be featured during the program.

Darlene Leonard, an Owensboro junior, will be featured in the solo number. Other team members are:

Admission for the program is 75 cents.

Casting For Play At Amphitheatre Is Set For Sunday

Casting for the play "Rameses", which is to be staged at Kenlake Amphitheatre beginning June 12, will be completed Sunday at 4 p. m. it was announced by Phillip Padgett, Director.

Padgett also said that final readings will be held this Saturday and Sunday at noon at the amphitheatre. Anyone wishing to read for a part should have a prepared presentation of their choice not to exceed 4 minutes. School teachers, college age young people, adults and senior high school students are especially invited to the tryouts.

Rehearsals will begin at 6 p. m. Wednesday, June 3, with opening date set for Friday, June 12. All rehearsals will begin promptly at 10 a. m. 2 p. m. and 8 p. m.

The play Rameses, is the story of Moses concerning that portion of his life relating to the Pharaoh, Rameses II.

These members of the Murray-Calloway County Rescue Squad underwent fire-fighting training at the squad building last week.

Willard Ails, pharmacist at the Murray-Calloway County Hospital, spoke on "Drug Abuse" at the meeting of the Kirksey School PTA Tuesday evening. On his right is Mrs. Harold Fones, president of the PTA.

Bible Thought for Today

Hearken unto this, O Job; stand still, and consider the wondrous works of God. — Job 37:14.

In all the rush and bustle of the world, all too few stop to consider God's works. He who does is renewed in mind and body.

Visitors to Spain

MADRID (UPI)—More than 21,682,000 foreign tourists visited Spain during 1969, according to official statistics.

This was an increase of 2,498,118 over 1968. The largest number of visitors were French, followed by Britons, Portuguese and Germans.

Power for vacationers

FLAMINGO, Fla. (UPI)—The longest underground cable of its type in Florida feeds electric power to vacationers staying at the Flamingo visitor facilities in Everglades National Park.

The 17 1/2 miles of cable is part of an overhead and underground transmission system extending through the sawgrass, cypress and mangrove regions of the huge Park, and avoids having unsightly lines and poles marring the natural beauty along the road-way stretching to Florida Bay.

Currency break for tourists?

MANILA (UPI)—A local hotelman has urged the Philippine Central Bank to authorize a preferential tourist conversion rate on the U.S. dollar to as high as 5 pesos.

Jose Cobarrubias called the current official rate of 3.85 pesos to one U.S. dollar "unrealistic." He said the tourist dollar, which is the objective of Philippine President Marcos' crash tourism development program, to strengthen the country's dollar reserves, is falling into the hands of black marketeers who buy the currency at a peso more than the official rate.

Today is Wednesday, April 29, the 119th day of 1970 with 246 to follow.

The moon is between its last quarter and new phase.

The evening stars are Mercury, Venus, Mars, Jupiter and Saturn.

On this day in history:
In 1878 Boston newspapers ran the ad, "Telephone, $3.00, guaranteed to work one mile. Five miles, $5.00."

In 1931 President Herbert Hoover received King Prajadhipok of Siam. He was the first absolute monarch to visit the U.S.

In 1945 U.S. troops liberated 32,000 prisoners at Dachau concentration camp.

In 1964 Princess Irene, of the Netherlands, married Prince Carlos Hugo of Bourbon-Parma in Rome.

A thought for the day: Scottish poet James Barry said, "We never understand how little we need in this world until we know the loss of it."

Spires Spiel

By Dan Scism

Money may make the mare go but it won't make a horse win the Kentucky Derby. It does determine the odds, solid or silly, depending on the judgment of the investors.

Terlago had the most financial support up to April 15 in the Derby Future Book. He was 2-1 but not feared by contemporaries like the home floor in basketball. A man of the west explained:

"The colt ran well out here and Californians believe what they see, especially in their own state. Last year they poured it in on Majestic Prince and had the winner but the Future Book wasn't hit hard. What did hurt was the wagering Derby day on Majestic Prince at Mexico's Agua Caliente Race Course, sponsor of the Future Book. The colt would have paid $2.20 in the Caliente track pool but they paid off at Churchill Downs' odds of $4.80 and dropped a cool one hundred grand."

My Dad George was 3-1 with Corn Off The Cob moving up a little at 7-2. Silent Screen was steady at 4-1. Hard Work dropped to 6-1 Naska edged up to 8-1.

Aggressively went down to 10-1 and into the company of George Lewis and Prize Silver. The latter opened at 50-1 but one man's investment of $1,000 helped tumble his odds.

The speculator and horse seem to deserve each other.

Dr. Behrman, Native Royalty, Personality, Spot Time and Supreme Quality were grouped at 15-1.

In the 20-1 herd were Admiral's Shield, Cassie Red, Cool Hand, High Echelon, Plenty Old, Protanto, Spotted Line and Top the Market. Protanto's price may shrink.

Supreme Quality May Be Sleeper

Supreme Quality, bred by Kentucky Tom Gentry and trained by relative Loyd "Boo" Gentry, who saddled Proud Clarion to win the Derby, could be the sleeper of the field. The son of Swaps is undefeated in his two starts, both this month at Keeneland. He got three-eighths in :32 and some change last year, according to a trainer who clocked him. Minor setbacks kept him from racing at two.

Pace is powerful in deciding the winner. Corn Off The Cob pressed Iron Warrior's pace for five furlongs in the Flamingo and was nosed out by My Dad George.

In the Fountain of Youth Stakes, Corn Off The Cob was reserved off Nehoc's Brother's pace for five furlongs, took command when asked from an empty horse and won by three and one-half lengths over Naska.

Trainer Arnold Winick employed the same running pattern in the Florida Derby and it seemed the winning formula again when Corn Off The Cob collared pace-setting Cassie Red in the home stretch. However Cassie dug in and fought back with speed. Corn Off The Cob wore him down right near the finish but had nothing left to answer My Dad George's late rush on the rail.

Money missed making Bimelech the winner at 2-5 in 1940. Olympia at 4-5 in 1949. Bold Ruler at 6-5 in 1957 and Tompion at 11-10 in 1960. But it rang the bell with Count Fleet at 2-5 in 1943 and with Citation at 2-5 in 1948.

One never knows but one can suspect the Future Book boys will smile if Top the Market or one of those 1,000-1 shots like Defeatem, Pous Jours or Bakerke win.

Naska Friendly Like a Shark

Rambling around with the Kentucky Derby in mind: Corn Off The Cob was foaled Feb. 13 in California but moved to Florida's Delray Training Center when two months old. He has a half-brother, by Raise a Native-Meticulous, foaled March 13 this year. The oddly-named prominent Derby candidate also has a full sister (by Khaled) named Nibbles, a two-year-old about ready to race.

This could be the Year of Personality at Churchill Downs. Honest running Personality scored an impressive five-length victory, April 11, at Aqueduct. The son of Hail to Reason, bred and owned by Mrs. E. D. Jacobs, could be at his peak Derby day. Remember his sire provided the winner in Proud Clarion the year he was foaled.

Don't take the inside rail when walking the shedrow of barn B at Keeneland unless you want a teeth-tattoo high on an arm. I was looking for Naska when he introduced himself in an unneighborly manner. His bay head popped out of a stall with his lips curled back and his beautiful teeth snapped inches from my right arm. He is friendly like a shark.

Fortunately Naska's carnivorousness doesn't retard his running gear nor include savagery when racing. He was conceived in France and foaled in Kentucky when Charles de Gaulle was triggering turbulence in North America. Could his decorum be charged to the influence of the Ex-French leader or nuclear explosions? Moon visits are out.

Naska's sire, Naskram, stands in France where his dam, Iskra, lived until imported in 1966.

Race Horses Like Bananas On Stalk

Many hunting a Derby horse with late speed, think they have found their quarry in Dr. Behrman. The bay son of Hail to Reason improved his position some six lengths in the last three-eighths of the Florida Derby and finished in the middle of the track with apparent acceleration. He had to look fairly fast in the final eighth run in :13 3/5.

Sid Rotz, sports director of WSOY, Decatur, Ill., will be in the press box May 2 rooting for cousin John Rotz to win the Kentucky Derby with Silent Screen.

T. W. "Dodge" Ferguson, one of racing's patriarchs facing his 74th birthday, has four head at Churchill Downs where he has campaigned annually since the infant '30's. One of the Rockport (Ind.) veteran's two-year-olds, by Pago Pago-Pink Cap by Bar Le Duc, is named Palm Sunday. She was foaled on Palm Sunday, 1968. She is a half-sister to Captullus, nominated for the Kentucky Oaks.

Captullus made her debut at Ellis Park last September, led for three furlongs and bucked shins in a race won by Sunny Sal, nominated for the Kentucky Derby and Oaks. She won her second start, Nov. 29, at Churchill Downs by six lengths and Ferguson sold her for $20,000.

"She's a good filly," he said. "I sold her because race horses are like bananas on a stalk. They ripen and then spoil. The only way I can come out in racing is to sell them when they're ripe."

Pick the ripest runner off the Derby stalk, May 2, and you will have the winner of the 1970 Run for the Roses.

Kienast Quintuplets Will Be Coming To Their New Rooms Built By Neighbors

By PATRICIA McCORMACK

LIBERTY CORNER, N.J. (UPI)—Before many days a blue and white ambulance will purr down tree-lined Liberty Corner Road on the last leg of the "coming home" trip for the Kienast quintuplets.

It will turn onto Old Mine Brook Road, amble past open countryside and an occasional house. At a seafarm and white clapboard house it will pause and gently turn onto a gravel driveway, roll past white dogwoods in new bloom and stop under oak trees splendid in their spring finery.

Waiting to greet the infants—Amy, Sarah, William Gordon, Abigail and Edward—will be Meg Kienast, 4, and her brother, John, 18 months. "My babies will bring me candy and I will give them pajamas and a hat," Meg said the other day, rehearsing her plans for the homecoming.

Joy Is Great
William and Peggy Jo Kienast will do the thing all parents have no control over when bringing a baby home. The tears of joy will be times five.

The infants, secured to plastic carriers, will be taken to the second floor of the addition to the Kienast home—the addition erected by volunteers out of neighborliness and in the spirit of celebration and pride in Liberty Corner's newest claim to fame.

Privacy will be one of the Kienasts' big concerns when the babies come home. Five hundred cars inched past the other Sunday when the house-raising started.

Lt. Charles Fortenbacher, of the Bernard Township Police Department, handled the traffic. "I told Bill we like him very much but if he pulls this quintuplet stuff again we'll run him out of town," the officer said.

Mrs. Kienast Watches
Hoarse from the excitement, Mrs. Kienast watched gratefully the other day as builders put finishing touches on the home addition. The hammering and the buzzing from electric saws seemed distracting, but not to this happy mother.

"It's a beautiful sound," she said. "We selected Liberty Corner to live in because it was quaint and beautiful. I never knew how beautiful the people were until this happened."

In August there may be a two-hour television special on the Kienasts and their family. In it, Mrs. Kienast expects to cover all the bases, according to a spokesman. "And then she hopes people will respect the request for privacy for the sake of herself, her husband and all the children," he added.

Style Pot-Roast For Spring with Pineapple and Spice

For spring appeal present a family favorite in new dress. Style beef pot-roast for this fresh, warmer season by mingling the beef with pineapple, mushrooms, soy sauce and ginger.

Pot-roast provides a spring bonus for it can cook slowly over low heat while you're out gardening, reminds Reba Staggs, home economist for the National Live Stock and Meat Board. Of course, pot-roast is an attractive cut for any season because of its valuable protein contribution.

Hawaiian Pot-Roast
3 to 4-pound beef arm or blade pot roast
3 tablespoons lard or drippings
1/4 cup soy sauce
1/2 cup water
1 teaspoon pepper
1/4 teaspoon ground ginger
1 medium-sized onion, sliced
1 can (4 ounces) mushroom stems and pieces
1/2 cup sliced celery
1 can (9 ounces) pineapple chunks, drained
1/4 cup water
2 tablespoons flour

Brown pot-roast in lard or drippings. Pour off drippings. Add soy sauce, 1/2 cup water, pepper, ginger and onion. Cover tightly and cook slowly 3 to 3 1/2 hours or until meat is tender. Combine mushroom, celery and pineapple. Add to meat and continue cooking 20 to 30 minutes or until celery is tender. Remove meat to heated platter. Mix together 1/4 cup water and flour. Add to cooking liquid and cook, stirring constantly, until thickened. Serve gravy with pot-roast. 8 to 10 servings.

To prevent breakage, place a spoon in the glass when pouring in hot liquids like coffee or tea.

Try rubbing stained areas on glassware with half a lemon.

Bridal Luncheon Is Held In Honor Of Jeanie Diuguid

Mrs. John Irvan and Mrs. Ed West were hostesses for a lovely luncheon complimenting Miss Jeanie Diuguid, bride-elect of David McKee.

The scene of the event was the lovely home of Mrs. Irvan which was decorated throughout with arrangements of spring flowers. Each of the three tables was centered with an arrangement of lilies of the valley and candy tuft.

Miss Diuguid wore a tulle-trimmed frock of pink voile and was presented a white daisy corsage by the hostesses. Her mother, Mrs. James Diuguid, chose to wear a brown and white sheer cotton dress.

The groom-elect's mother, Mrs. Anne McKee, was unable to attend.

The hostesses presented the honoree with a white blanket as a wedding gift. A delicious party plate was served to the honoree, her mother, Mrs. Ed Filbeck, grandmother of the honoree, Miss Virginia Hay and Mrs. Robert Bergman, both aunts of the bride-elect from Irvine, Mrs. Wells Purdon, Mrs. Jack Belote, Miss Jane Belote, Mrs. Paul Fleming, Mrs. Gary Roedemier, Miss Mary Warren Swann, and Miss Nancy Diuguid.

Miss Jewell Dean-Ellis Guest Speaker Murray FHA Mother-Daughter Banquet

Miss Jewell Dean-Ellis, assistant state home economics supervisor, was the featured speaker at the eleventh annual Mother-Daughter Banquet held by the Murray High School chapter of the Future Homemakers of America on Friday, April 24, at six-thirty o'clock in the evening at the Murray Woman's Club House.

"FHA'ers Face Today's World" was the theme of the banquet and Miss Ellis used that as her subject of her interesting and challenging talk. Miss Susan Hale, president, was the toastmistress. The invocation was given by Mrs. G. T. Lilly. A tribute to mothers was given by Miss Erma Kendall.

Special music was by Miss Nancy Spann who sang "Sunrise Sunset" accompanied by her mother, Mrs. Joe Hal Spann. Honorary membership was bestowed upon Mrs. Buist Scott, art teacher at Murray High School. Miss Susan Hale made the presentation.

Conferring the various degrees were Susan Hale, Bonnie Cohoon, and Gail Russell. Receiving the state degree were Susan Hale, Suzanne Hale, and Nancy Mathis.

Chapter degrees were presented to Becky Hogancamp, Jennifer Taylor, Gail Lyons, Gail Russell, Bonnie Cohoon, Marilyn Parks, and Patsy Fitts.

Receiving the guests at the door were Miss Susan Hale, president, Supt. and Mrs. Fred Schultz, Principal and Mrs. Eli Alexander, and Mrs. G. T. Lilly, chapter advisor. Miss Rita Harris greeted the guests at the door and a red rose was given to each mother. The tables were decorated with red and white streamers down the center of the table flanked by white candles and greenery. Globes were on the table and small flags were inserted in the red congealed salad. An arrangement of red roses flanked by candles was used on the speaker's table.

The banquet committee was composed of Rita Harris, chairman, Sheila Latimer, Jan Shuffett, Lynn Watson, Denise Grogan, Mary Lee Brownfield, Wanda Rolfe, Carol Brandon, Celia Larson, Nita Atkins, Marilyn Parks, and Brenda Richardson.

Parents Must Suppress Laughter When Odd Things Happen At School Concerts

By PATRICIA McCORMACK

HOMEFRONT, U.S.A. (UPI)—When attending that annual spring happening known as the school recital or concert, all parents must be guided by this rule:

"Do unto other people's kids as I expect them to do unto mine."

That means you suppress laughter when violin strings break, music stands fall, trumpet notes gurgle on account of water in the pipes, and at all other times gremlins get in on the act.

It also means you applaud until your hands hurt—even for renditions of squeaky, off-key and otherwise disharmonious pieces.

Encouragement's the name of the act you put on to help the embryonic musicians over knocking knees, discombobulated notes and such.

Essential Quality
Otherwise, these gallant performers will never develop that essential in every musician's kit—stage presence.

"After attending one of these splendid displays of promising youths on their way to greatness, another plank in the code of conduct for the audience became apparent. That is—the more mishap-ridden the performance the greater the applause.

The greatest clapping was heard after a girl, 12, continued her primitive violin solo without interruption—even though one knee-sock sagged to shoptop halfway through.

Also evident at these events: great strength on the part of teachers. Most often they're seen with backs plastered to walls, eyes cast ceilingwards, lips taut against teeth, fists clenched.

Suffering Audience
Suffering certainly is what the audience and teachers do best while the youngsters stumble on. Or don't you agree that suppressing laughter when a cello slides out from under strenuous bowing midpoint in a solo is suffering?

My biggest concern at these things usually centers on a violinist whose bow bores opposite the direction of all other bows in a group piece. You can tell by the perplexed look on the angelic face that she's either playing the wrong piece or has her music book turned to the wrong page.

My feelings for fellow humans in distress also are

Clark Is Speaker For April Meeting Preschool Mothers

"A person of average intelligence may be highly creative," according to Varro Clark, Assistant Professor, Department of Psychology, Murray State University, who spoke at the monthly meeting of the St. Leo's Cooperative Preschool mothers April 22 in Gleason Hall.

Discussing the creativity of children Mr. Clark described two kinds of children—the achiever, who responds to traditional values, and the creative child, who is willing to take risks. He also suggested means by which parents and teachers can encourage a child's creative ability. A handout describing common misconceptions about creativity and presenting ten commandments which squelch creative acts was given to the mothers at the conclusion of the discussion.

Mrs. Ginny Lyon, president, appointed committees for the preschool open house scheduled for May 20 and discussed getting additional sand for the play yard.

Mrs. Eugene Russell, preschool teacher, announced that the Murray State Speech and Hearing Clinic would test the children April 24 during preschool sessions.

Hostess for the evening was Mrs. Bobbie Root.

Students Attend Leadership Meeting Held At Morehead

The Kentucky Baptist Student Union Leadership Conference was held at Morehead, April 24-26. Presiding at the conference was Larry Nichols, a junior at Murray State University.

Also participating on the program from Murray State were: Becky Tarry, Greg Maddux, Steve Son, Ray Gillaspie, and Richard Jones.

Others attending from MSU were: Lloyd Cornell, campus minister; Terri Whittaker, Cindy Nelson, Kathy Lockhart, Janice Igleheart, Leonard Jenkins, Gale Kersey, Jim Taylor, Jim Green, Bruce Wolfe, Glenda Pace, Beverly Paschall, and Ish Teitloff.

The program consisted of reports from various BSU campuses of their happenings, introductions to students serving as missionaries this summer, and workshop conferences.

Saturday afternoon David Hazelwood, a senior at Murray State from Owensboro, Ky., was elected State BSU President for 1970-71.

BIRTHS

Rev. and Mrs. Ed Frank Jeffery of Dallas, Texas, announce the birth of a baby girl, Marcia Lyn, born on Tuesday, April 7. Grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Glen Jeffery of Murray and Mr. and Mrs. Ken Morris of Paducah.

Mr. and Mrs. Dennis Lee Jones of Murray Route Seven are the parents of a baby girl, Johna Carol, weighing six pounds ten ounces, born on Monday, April 27, at the Western Baptist Hospital, Paducah.

They have one son, Dennis Lee, Jr., age 3 1/2. The father is employed at the General Tire and Rubber Company, Mayfield. Grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Clifton Lee Jones of Murray Route Seven and Mr. and Mrs. John L. Williams, 1714 Keeneland Drive, Murray.

Great grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Smotherman of Murray Route Seven, Elmus Jones, Farmer Avenue, Murray, and Mrs. Pearl Williams, South 8th Street, Murray.

Mrs. Weatherly Is Elected Chairman Of Zeta Department

Mrs. James Weatherly was elected chairman of the Zeta Department of the Murray Woman's Club at the regular meeting held on Thursday, April 23, at seven-thirty o'clock in the evening at the club house.

Other new officers elected for the coming year were Mrs. Eugene Flood, vice-chairman; Mrs. Frank Kane, secretary; Mrs. W. P. Russell, treasurer.

Mrs. June S. Smith, present chairman, presided at the meeting. The department which has Mental Health as its project voted to give $100.00 to the local Mental Health Clinic.

Mrs. T. M. Downing and Miss Vivian Hale were appointed to a committee to make plans for setting up a scholarship for a student planning to go into some phase of special education or in the mental health field. The planned speaker, Mrs. A. B. Crass, was unable to attend due to the accident of her husband that afternoon.

During the social hour refreshments were served by the hostesses, Mesdames L. D. Milner, Purdom Outland, John Pasco, L. K. Pinkley, John Quarterman, and J. J. Roach.

Sirens Saves Lives When Tornadoes Strike According To Weather Bureau

That "old fire horse" instinct that brings us to attention at the sound of a siren can be a lifesaver during a tornado emergency, according to the Commerce Department's Environmental Science Services Administration.

ESSA's Weather Bureau has launched SKYWARN '70, an intensive campaign to save lives during tornadoes by expanding networks of volunteer spotters and telling the public what to do if one of these deadly storms threatens.

In order to point up the value of positive alerting systems, the Weather Bureau cited a number of instances where community preparedness planning and the use of sirens to alert the public of an approaching tornado have paid off in lives saved.

On May 6, 1965, at 6:34 p.m., the sirens in Minneapolis, Minn., began their warning within minutes after the first of six tornadoes, which later raked the city and its suburbs, was reported in Minneapolis, the sirens can be triggered by the staff of the Weather Bureau. At the flick of a switch, sirens throughout the area are activated, as well as bells and flashing lights in radio and television stations and law enforcement offices. Before May 6, 1965, the system had never been used in earnest.

Turning to their radio and television to find out why the sirens were sounding, startled residents of the city's northwestern section and suburban Fridley learned, in many cases just in time, that tornadoes were upon them. Many sought shelter and lived. Fourteen died.

A deadly tornado tore through the heart of Topeka, Kansas, on June 8, 1966. It left a path of almost total destruction eight miles long and about four blocks wide.

Topeka's Civil Defense sirens were sounded at the first sign of the storm. Residents in the city's southwestern section (the first to be hit) had as much as 13 minutes' warning. In the city's northeastern sections, the sirens gave 28 minutes' warning.

The tornado took a tragic toll that day in Topeka. 17 died and 550 were injured. But according to city officials, the use of sirens undoubtedly kept the deaths and injuries down, as 800 dwellings were completely destroyed and 1,210 were damaged.

A tornado injured 300 persons and caused 14 million dollars' damage when it ripped into Oelwein, Iowa, on May 16, 1968. Oelwein's Civil Defense sirens sounded for two minutes before power was disrupted, but even two minutes' warning was invaluable to the great majority of the community's citizens. Only one life was lost in the storm.

Tracy, Minnesota, had five precious minutes to prepare for a tornado which hit June 13, 1968. The city's sirens were triggered by Tracy's police dispatcher when he received a report of the approaching storm from alert citizens six miles to the west. Nine persons died in the tornado, but countless others moved to shelter or out of the storm's path. Again sirens played an important, life-saving role in a tornado emergency.

According to the Weather Bureau, policy governing the use of sirens varies from area to area, and individual communities should determine whether their sirens are used for tornado warnings.

As part of its SKYWARN tornado preparedness effort, ESSA has prepared a detailed planning guide titled "Tornado Preparedness Planning," which community officials may obtain free by writing Emergency Warnings Branch, ESSA Weather Bureau, Silver Spring, Md. 20910.

Individuals who learn of the approach of a tornado by being alerted by a siren or any other means are urged to heed the following safety rules.

TORNADO SAFETY RULES
When a tornado approaches, your immediate action is your key to survival. Seek inside shelter, preferably in a tornado cellar, an underground excavation, or in a steel-framed or reinforced concrete building of substantial construction. Stay away from windows.

IN CITIES OR TOWNS:
In homes - the basement usually offers the greatest safety. Seek shelter under a sturdy workbench or heavy table if possible. In a home with no basement, take cover under heavy furniture in the center part of the house. Keep some windows open, but stay away from them.

Mobile homes are particularly vulnerable to overturning during strong winds. Trailer parks should have a community shelter.

Appoint a community leader responsible for constant radio monitoring during threatening weather or during watch periods.

IN SCHOOLS:
Whenever possible, go to an interior hallway on the lowest floor.

Avoid auditoriums and gymnasiums or other structures with wide free-span roofs. If a building is not of reinforced construction, go quickly to a nearby reinforced building, or to a ravine or open ditch and lie flat.

IN OPEN COUNTRY:
Move away from the tornado's path at a right angle. If there is no time to escape, lie flat in the nearest depression, such as a ditch or ravine.

KEEP LISTENING - Your radio and television stations will broadcast the latest tornado advisory information. CALL THE WEATHER BUREAU ONLY TO REPORT A TORNADO.

BURIES WORKERS
ALPNACHSTAD, Switzerland (UPI) - An avalanche buried four railroad workers Monday as they worked on the Pilatus Cogwheel Railway. Three other workers were injured in the slide but survived.

TURNING THE OTHER CHEEK—Paula Diaz, 5, offers potato chips to her stepfather, Michael Rodriguez, 23, as he is booked in New York in the beating death of her sister Joanne, 3. His sharp retort brings a look of shock to face of her mother. He looked both girls in a small dark room all night after allegedly kicking Joanne in the chest and striking her on the mouth. She was found dead next morning.

Opium Is Cash Crop In Laos

By ROBERT KAYLOR

VIENTIANE, Laos (UPI)—Opium is a cash crop in Laos and trade in the drug made from poppies is legal in this nation torn by war.

There are those who say that the fighting in Northern Laos these days is nothing more than the result of a quarrel among factions of Meo tribesmen over opium growing lands. But Western observers with long experience in Laos doubt this. "Let's not be naive," said one old Laos hand. "Both the good guys and the bad guys deal in opium up here. Opium moves throughout the country and I would not be surprised if every general gets something out of it."

At the same time, the sources said, to suggest that the United States is backing Meo hill tribe Gen. Vang Pao in a merely tribal conflict does not account for the presence of more than two divisions of North Vietnamese troops who have no overriding interest in opium.

Rep. John V. Tunney, D-Calif., was quoted in the United States as saying that the CIA has committed the U.S. government to supporting Vang Pao in a tribal split in which the Meo general's sole objective was opium producing land held by his opponents which produced from $2 million to $6 million worth a year.

Opium is perhaps the only cash crop grown by the Meo and other hill tribe groups. It is a crop which will not grow well at lower altitudes. There is also no moral stigma to trade in opium.

Opium has played a historical role in Indochina conflicts. Both the Communist Viet Minh and the Pathet Lao acknowledged selling opium to raise funds. There has been evidence of continuing opium trade on the government side in Laos.

Current estimates from informed economic sources place the total opium traffic in Laos at about $3 million to $5 million a year. This includes opium which transits Laos on its way

Golf Important Factor In Bahamas' Big Boom

By Central Press

FREEPORT, Grand Bahamas—When Americans become sold on an idea or on a fashion or even a hobby, there is no greater dedicated lot. Take, for example, the enthusiasm for golf that has engulfed men and women in the United States. Time was when only the idle rich could afford to indulge in the sport. Today, there are more than 11 million golf bugs in the U.S.

So devoted are so many to this pastime that players have learned to follow the Sun in pursuit of their game. When the snows of winter blanket the East and Midwest, the golf birds head South.

Florida was for years, the oasis until smart land developers discovered the tax-free Bahamas and started to build luxury resort hotels with championship golf courses there as bait to attract the sportsman.

IT WORKED. And how! Within the last six or seven years, the Caribbean islands have become "in" spots for vacationers, with weekends there yawningly routine for those desiring tropical tee-off.

The balmy climate, the golf links, not only appeal to golfers, but proved a bonanza for investors, especially those owning property on Grand Bahama Island. Tourist traffic attests this.

Though only 28,000 Americans visited the 530-square-mile island in 1963, by the close of 1969, more than 500,000 people had traveled to its shores.

MORE impressive was the blossoming of luxury communities, a direct outgrowth of the island's recreational facilities, its weather and its heady tax advantages. The no personal tax, no real estate, no income or general sales tax in Freeport played a considerable role in attracting permanent residents.

A typical new community fast filling with American and international population is that of Bahama, which, until five years ago, was more or less a tropical wilderness. Within the last two years alone 1,000 condominium and rental apartment units and about 100 luxury homes have risen on the land. There is no question but that golf courses influenced development of Bahama. Apartments and homes are being built as near the fairways as construction allows.

TO ENCOURAGE more tourists to the island, in addition to the residents it has wooed to it, Bahama is in the process of building a new 400-room luxury

PEACE AND WAR—South Vietnamese Rangers ride a landing craft past a serene little village on the Mekong River after operation against Reds. Scene is An Phu, South Vietnam.

ERRAND OF ROMANCE?—Mrs. Jacqueline Kennedy Onassis relaxes in Boston and says she will be in the U.S. until July. Greek newspapers report her trip as an errand of romance—trying to dissuade her stepdaughter Christina, 18, from calling off her engagement to shipping heir Petros Goulandris.

on the rest of the island will continue to mushroom.

Farmers Add Acres to Acres

Expansion-minded farmers buy most of farm land in the U.S. In 1969, farmers increasing their acreage accounted for 81% of land transactions in Northern Plains; 63% in Corn Belt; 60% in nation as a whole.

Is her hubby
only 'playing it safe'?

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: After my eighth baby was born, I asked my doctor to "tie my tubes" so I wouldn't have any more children. It's nothing new. Lots of women have it done. Well, that was two years ago, and yesterday my husband came home and announced that he had gone down to the doctor's office and had his tubes tied! It sure sounds to me like there's another woman in his life.

Maybe I'm just dumb, but I can't understand why HE had to have that done when there was no danger of getting ME pregnant.

Do you think he's off his rocker, or just plain don't like kids. Please don't use my name. Four of my kids can read. "OVER BEARING"

DEAR OVER: No matter what your husband's faults may be, "gambling" isn't one of them.

DEAR ABBY: In reply to "FLAT AS A PANCAKE": Don't be disappointed in your measurements. I am stationed on Okinawa now, and the average chest size for a fully-developed woman here is 27 inches. So, cheer up! Age will help. Respectfully, A "GI" IN THE PACIFIC

DEAR "GI": Thanks for the comforting words for "FLAT" and all her flat sisters. It's good to know that our men in the Pacific are so compassionate, informed—and observing.

DEAR ABBY: I am only 14 years old and I have a problem. All my friends call me "conceited." I'm not really, but they think I am because I can't pass a mirror without looking at myself.

So what can I do about myself, Abby? Do you think I'm conceited or not? NOT CONCEITED

DEAR NOT: Looking at one's self in the mirror does not necessarily indicate that you ADMIRE yourself. Perhaps you lack self-confidence and are seeking constant reassurance. Try to pass a mirror without looking into it.

DEAR ABBY: I have a suggestion for "CAN'T SLEEP" whose conscience is bothering her over her neglect of an elderly mother, recently deceased.

Go to the nearest Old Folks home and take on a "mother" even a "mother and father." Do for them what you wish you'd have done for your own. Think how much pleasure a ride on a sunny day, a small gift or even a bouquet of flowers would mean to the elderly "forgotten-by-family" people who are in these homes. If you can't take them out, you can go and talk with them, and listen to them reminisce. You will gain a lot. I know. I've tried it and it works. It's fun! [Sign me] CAN SLEEP

What's your problem? You'll feel better if you get it off your chest. Write to ABBY, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Cal. 90069. For a personal reply enclose stamped, addressed envelope.

Have to write letters? Send $1 to Abby, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Cal. 90069, for Abby's booklet, "How to Write Letters for All Occasions."

Document Depository Now At UK

By Jim Warren

LEXINGTON, Ky. — The Margaret I. King Library located on the UK campus has the only complete U. S. Government document depository in Kentucky.

The document section of the library receives over 32,000 documents and 20,000 microcards per year with only 3 workers and a few part time student and intern helpers to catalogue the load.

"Our primary purpose consists of research and cataloging," says Mrs. Rebekah Harleston, head of the U. S. documents section. "Unlike partial depositories, (Kentucky has several throughout the state) which can dispose of most materials every five years, we must hold everything on a permanent basis."

The library's 10,000 running feet of shelves contain such documents as: +A complete set of the U. S. Census figures +Complete sets of the Congressional Record and Statutes-at-Large +One of 50 existing sets of the Executive Journal of the U. S. Senate.

In 1969, the special section was made a United Nations documents depository, and contains all official records of the major UN bodies as well as materials on social and economic conditions around the world.

The section also keeps a file of all state publications.

The depository has been located at the UK library since 1967 but became a separate section in 1967.

Students and researchers find the section not only provides material but furnishes guidance and help in finding information. Mrs. Harleston says the department answers a question every three minutes, thousands each year—and the work is increasing. The department circulates books and pamphlets only to Fayette County residents, but others may use the material by requesting it through their local library. The department also answers questions by phone and mail. If the main depository does not have the requested item, one of the several partial depositories across the state usually has it. "We know the kinds of things the other depositories have," Mrs. Harleston says. "Each have strengths and weaknesses in materials and we know pretty well who has what." She says anyone needing information may write: Government Publications Department, Margaret I. King Library, University of Kentucky, Lexington, Kentucky 40506.

About 90 to 95 million Americans drink alcoholic beverages, at least occasionally.

Test Will Tell If Cotton Boll Weevil Can Be Stopped

By BERNARD BRENNER
UPI Farm Editor

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Farmers in years gone by cursed him in helpless rage. Story tellers and folk singers made him a part of the American legend. Now farm officials are talking of a test to see if the cotton boll weevil can be eradicated completely.

If the experiment succeeds, a top Agriculture Department official said, "we will be making a major contribution toward lessening the need to add chemicals to the environment."

Farmers currently spend about $75 million a year on insecticides to control the boll weevil. This accounts for about one-third of the total volume of insecticides used in the United States every year. Dr. George W. Irving told a House appropriations subcommittee in testimony made public this week.

Could Cut Chemicals
Eradication of the boll weevil would reduce the need for chemical pesticides, said Irving, administrator of the department's research service.

Other officials said today they expect to decide by May 1 whether the boll weevil eradication experiment, planned as a two-year test, can be launched this year.

A spokesman said the decision depends largely on whether cotton industry sources can come up with about $1.25 million to match planned federal contributions.

The experiment, officials said, would use a combination of all known control measures including nonpersistent insecticides, sex attractants to lure weevils into traps and the release of sterilized male weevils.

Mississippi Site

The site chosen for the experiment is an area centered in Jefferson Davis and Covington counties in south Mississippi, taking in small adjoining areas of Alabama and Louisiana.

The program would begin with spraying this fall in an effort to cut the "overwintering" weevil population by about 98 percent. In the spring of 1971, technicians would move in traps, baited with a sex attractant.

Later, when 1971 cotton begins to fruit, sterile male weevils would be released. They would, hopefully, complete the job of eradicating the pest by making unproductive matings with normal female weevils.

are complete" in about 10 days, Crissons buoyed up.

But the Crissons, aged 42, 39 and 23, are buoyed up by their find.

"We've had no one who knows anything about it who has said anything but we've hit it," yelled Sidney, 39-year-old R.L. Crisson. They all say it's a rich one.

Mrs. Amy Trammell, who with her husband panned a nearby mine for 35 years until her husband's death several years ago and say they made a comfortable living, is as excited as anyone about the prospect of the Crissons' opening a commercial mining operation.

There are believed to be only two commercial mines currently in operation in the United States.

"If it's possible for this vein to go on, it will be a great thing," says Mrs. Trammell. "But I've seen pockets like this before. You'll be panning along and all of a sudden, it'll be gone."

MGM Auction Draws Many Movie Buffs

By VERNON SCOTT
UPI Hollywood Correspondent

HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—Like pilgrims streaming to Mecca, movie buffs around the world are converging on MGM studios to buy a bit of film lore at the studio auction May 3 through May 20.

Scores of individuals from Europe, Asia, South America and as far away as Australia have made the trek, some hunting for bargain antiques, others for a hat worn by Jeanette MacDonald.

The David Weiz Auction Company will put more items under the gavel in 32 sessions than it can count.

There are 350,000 costumes alone, some worn by the greatest stars: Gable, Tracy, Lombard, Cooper, Garbo, Garland, Stanwyck, Carson, Lanza.

Thousands of Letters

Since announcement of the auction thousands of letters of inquiry have come into the studio. The most sought-after items are props or wardrobes associated with Clark Gable and Judy Garland.

One item up for sale is Johnny Weissmuller's original loincloth from his first "Tarzan" picture.

Wardrobe is only the beginning of the story. There are, for instance, thousands of African spears, ancient muskets, shields, daggers, bayonets, knives, swords and weaponry enough to arm NATO.

Western fans may bid on branding irons, powder horns, spurs, covered wagons and saddles.

Have Choice of Autos

Bidders who have an affinity for old automobiles have a choice of dozens from an 1899 De Dion Bouton roadster to a 1910 Stanley Steamer, all in good working order.

Boat nuts may buy miniature HMS Bounty, the Mayflower and the Green Dolphin. There are dugout canoes, a full-sized stern-wheeler from "Showboat" and others.

Each bit of wardrobe, rolling stock and props has a history. Some were built, purchased or sewn for a single picture. Others have been used time and again in a variety of films. Many possess nostalgic magic.

Many a ghost of stars long dead will fill the sound stages of MGM as the playthings and make-believe of a vanished era of Hollywood are sold away. Happily, most items will fall to people who will treasure them.

THREATENED—Viscount Linley (above), son of Princess Margaret and the Earl of Snowdon, is being kept under close guard by Scotland Yard after a tip disclosed a plot to kidnap the 8-year-old boy as hostage for release of two imprisoned gang leaders in London.

Spraying Can Improve Your Home Garden

LEXINGTON, Ky. — Controlling garden pests is considered a major problem by many "green thumb" enthusiasts. It should not be. If the home gardener would spend a few minutes in making sure he has chosen the right materials and then use them correctly, the results could prove most rewarding, says Hubert W. Davis, Extension Specialist in Horticulture at the UK College of Agriculture.

"Many people try to overcome their insect and disease problems by planting enough additional vegetables to take care of the losses expected from pests," says Davis. But the UK expert advises against this practice. "Plant only enough vegetables to supply family needs," cautions Davis, "and protect them from insects and diseases."

Davis suggests that gardeners apply pesticides when vegetables break through the soil, and continue at 7-10 day intervals until harvesting. Cover the entire part of the plant above the ground.

When using duster equipment, Davis recommends the crank type. He advises against the "push type" duster, and cautions against the application of pesticides from the sack or can as being too slow for practical use.

When using the sprayer method, Davis recommends the one to 1½ gallon pressure type for best results. The three to 3½ gallon sprayer is good; but too heavy for practical use. Fly sprayer mechanisms are rated very poor on the basis that they require too much time to perform a satisfactory job. Sprinkler methods are not only slow but very wasteful. The UK horticulturist recommends malathion or Sevin for insects. Thiodon or Sevin are more effective in controlling the tomato fruit worm and corn ear worm. For leaf and fruit diseases, zineb, maneb, or captan are recommended.

Gardeners can buy pre-mixed materials which contain pesticides that control both insects and diseases. They are available in either spray or dust form, and contain malathion, methoxychlor, and zineb or captan.

Many gardeners do not use pre-mixed chemicals. They prefer to buy chemicals and mix them for specific insect or disease control. This practice results in a substantial saving in purchase price.

It is generally agreed that sprays are better for controlling diseases, and are at least equal to dusts in controlling insects, says Davis. In the case of cucurbits, such as squash and cucumber, a dust is much more desirable than a spray since it will penetrate the dense foliage better. Whether the gardener uses a spray or dust, complete coverage is the secret to good pest control.

Davis advises gardeners to follow all instructions printed on the container. Pesticides are time-saving allies to the home gardener when used properly. But when used carelessly, they can become a potential threat to man.

College costs: outtasight

ITHACA, N.Y. (UPI) — If Junior is one year old and you plan to save for his college education, figure on at least $25,000.

Consumer Economics Prof. Elizabeth Ewigand of the State College of Human Ecology predicts total college education costs will rise $250 a year per student.

Starting from a relatively expensive $2,000 per year figure at present, this would rise to $6,250 by the time Junior is ready to go to college, if you use the professor's formula.

Many private colleges already have tuitions alone well over the $2,000 mark.

Authorities estimate the average American family wastes about 400 pounds of edible food in the course of a year. For the nation, the waste adds up to 10 million tons of food annually.

By STEWART HENSLEY
UPI Diplomatic Reporter

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Events in Southeast Asia have reached a point where President Nixon must proceed with extreme caution lest he be trapped in the political quicksands that pulled down President Lyndon B. Johnson.

Expanded Communist military operations in Cambodia, together with the continued strategic position of Hanoi's forces in Laos, have underlined the fact that Vietnam cannot be dealt with in isolation.

The savage Communist military reaction against the Cambodian government which ousted Prince Norodom Sihanouk has made it clear that what the United States must deal with in Southeast Asia is a war involving all Indochina and not just Vietnam.

That is why some high officials in the Nixon administration are willing now to admit that Nixon's Vietnamization program—even if it works—is the answer to only part of the fateful issue facing the President.

The idea of bolstering Cambodian forces to fight against the 40,000 Hanoi and Viet Cong troops in the eastern part of that country, while South Vietnamese forces attack them from the other side, has considerable appeal for military strategists.

However, the President and his top policy advisers must weigh the political consequences of such a move, which might well draw the United States into an even wider war in the area.

While providing limited military supplies to Cambodia, the United States has made its first effort to deal with the increased peril in Southeast Asia by psychological and diplomatic tactics.

Secretary of State William P. Rogers has urged action by "the international community to protect and restore the independence and neutrality of Cambodia." He has branded the 40,000 Communist Vietnamese troops that originally went into eastern Cambodia—using it as a sanctuary from the war in South Vietnam—as outright aggressors threatening the very independence of all Cambodia.

Such a statement could be interpreted as laying the groundwork for justifying direct U.S. military intervention within the framework of the "Nixon Doctrine" proclaimed at Guam. However, Rogers for the time being is using it instead as the basis for bringing new pressure on the Soviet Union and other countries which were involved on the Geneva conferences on Indochina to take a hand in the situation and try to force Hanoi to negotiate.

IN STYLE—Former President Johnson is out of office but not out of style, hairwise, you notice, as he talks with President Nixon during a White House visit. Foreign policy is the topic here.

THE 1967 KIDNAP of Kenneth Young, then 11, in Los Angeles, hits the headlines again with indictment of 38-year-old Ronald Lee Miller (above), a former Internal Revenue Service agent. The boy's financier father paid $200,000 ransom, in marked $100 bills, and the boy was released three days after.

Murray State Students Conduct Religious Survey Spring Break

Two Murray State University students have been elected officers of the Kentucky Intercollegiate Press Association at the annual spring meeting held at Western Kentucky University in Bowling Green this weekend.

Jerry Bayne of Madison, Ind. was elected first vice-president. He is a junior majoring in history and journalism. Sports editor for the Murray State News, Bayne is also president of Alpha Phi Gamma honorary journalism chapter on the campus.

The son of Howard Bayne of Route 5, Madison, he is a member of Sigma Nu social fraternity.

Elected secretary was Vivian Minks of Elkton, a sophomore journalism major. The daughter of O. W. Minks of West Main, she is presently serving as assistant feature editor of the Murray State News. She served as president of her pledge class for Alpha Phi Gamma. Miss Minks is succeeding Lynn Rennert, a senior from Louisville at MSU.

Brenda Ellis, a sophomore at Paducah Community College, was elected second vice-president. She has been accepted at Murray State for next fall where she will continue her studies in journalism.

Wants 'Pastor's Day'

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Churches should observe an annual Pastor's Day similar to the Laymen's Sunday celebrated in most Baptist churches, says Carl W. Tiller, layman president of the District of Columbia Baptist Convention.

"Let us find some occasion each year when we can let our appreciation for our pastors overflow in a specific way," Tiller said in his regular weekly column in the Capital Baptist.

Scars From 1967 Riots Still Hang On In Detroit

By DAVID SMOTHERS
UPI Senior Editor

DETROIT (UPI)—Detroit is a city suffering from a hangover almost three years old. The Hangover is far from cured.

Whether it ever will be cured could be a measure of the chances of other great American cities to pull themselves together and find a direction.

The hangover throbbing in Detroit is not unique. Other cities had riots in that grim summer of 1967. But Detroit's was the worst any American city has endured in modern history. None matched Detroit's brutal scorecard of 43 dead and damage estimated at from $80 million to $250 million.

Sincere Efforts

There were vows made then that it would never happen in Detroit again. And it is true the city has escaped without a major riot since. There were promises made then that the forgotten and dispossessed of the city would be so no longer. And it is true that sincere efforts, and some progress, have been made to keep those promises.

It is also true that, as the summer of 1970 approaches, the causes of discontent in Detroit's spreading black population—roughly 40 to 45 per cent of the city's total—appear considerably eased. Detroit's Negroes have found—or achieved—escape valves and voices in high places that were not there in 1967.

The hangover, though, lives on. A sense of disillusion and frustration hangs over Detroit. It is not as self evident as the smog over the city's expressways, but it's there.

Poor and Blacks

The downtown area dies a little each night, a victim of fear and economic anemia. The men who control the city, to a great degree, don't live there. The men who might control the city are deserting it in large numbers for the suburbs, leaving vast stretches of Detroit to the poor and the blacks.

The tax structure grates, the streets are not safe after sundown, and the city itself does not have enough money to do the things which need doing. The promises of 1967 live on with the hangover, not repudiated but in many cases not kept. Much the same could be said of many, if not most, major American cities. If Detroit is a special case, it is because the motor city embodies so many of the nation's urban problems, and because Detroit still lives with the ghost of 1967.

After the fires died in 1967, the men who run Detroit made bold plans to heal the scars and right the wrongs of the city. A prestigious organization, the New Detroit Committee, was formed. Federal money was pumped into the city. The automotive "Big Three," which dominates the city's economic life, pledged to go into the ghettos and practically press jobs upon those who were hitherto considered unemployable.

A ride through Detroit's 10th Precinct in police patrol car number 102 served recently to demonstrate how far, or how little, the city has come in meeting these goals.

Police Raid

The 10th precinct is where it all started on the hot night of July 23 when police raided a blind pig—Detroitese for an after-hours saloon—and the city exploded.

The building where it happened still stands—a gray, two-story flat jutting like a visible toothache from an expanse of rubble on the corner of 12th Street and Clairmont.

Up and down 12th Street, the main stem where the fires blazed brightest that July, there are more empty expanses where stores and homes once stood. Abandoned, shattered storefronts are still boarded up after almost three years. What new buildings have gone up are more distinctive for their faceless expanses of brick and concrete than for inviting stretches of vulnerable glass.

All Cop

The officers in car 102, James Anderson and Oneal Wright, were both black and both all cop. They were proud of their uniforms and rated themselves considerably higher in worth and human dignity than the "offbrands" who roam 12th Street at night.

But they would say little, if anything, in praise of what has happened in their precinct since 1967.

Wright, at the wheel, stopped a few doors down from a handsome, four-story apartment house—a model of the residential architecture of the '30s—on Seward Street four blocks from 12th. Anderson delivered a lecture, "That looks like quite a place, doesn't it?" he said. "Before 1967, it was the biggest dope pad in the district. One squad car team wouldn't go in there alone—you needed two."

"So after the riots they came in with federal money and cleaned it up and put in new walls and new rugs on the floor. It was going to be medium housing, $70 or $80 a month rent. The tenants were going to be screened. But someone didn't do the screening right."

"You shake guys down and they tell you things and that's how we know that building is just the same as it ever was. Maybe one squad car would feel safe answering a call there now, but I don't know."

On the face of it, Detroit has a lot going for it. It is the nation's fifth largest city, with a population of roughly 1.5 million within the city limits and 5 million in the metropolitan area. It is the city which, as it likes to boast, put the nation on wheels. It has the headquarters of the automotive giants, General Motors, Ford and Chrysler, in its environs as proof.

There is a new mayor in the city-county building, a new, young city council, and a new police commissioner to give fresh hope.

Blue Collar City

Despite the haunting memory of 1967, and of another disastrous riot in 1943, there is a long tradition in Detroit of white and black families living in close proximity and at peace. Whether it is because of the automotive companies, or because of the powerful influence of the United Auto Workers, or because of the city's very nature, Detroit is a city which has offered Negroes more of a chance than most.

It is, largely, a blue collar city where the men get up at 5:30 in the morning to go to their jobs on the assembly line, and pay their union dues, and, as officer Anderson observed, their bills, on time.

But it is also a city which drains off much of its lifeblood every evening on the clogged expressways leading like spokes from the downtown area on the banks of the Detroit River to the suburbs.

Around downtown Detroit, an enclave which stretches back through almost 300 years of American history, is a collar of black people four miles wide and growing wider.

Little Money

The chamber of commerce frets because there is little new money being pumped into downtown Detroit. Plans for a domed sports auditorium on the riverbank are stymied because the city is $21 million in debt and needs $50 million next year. The automotive giants are already centered out of town and new industries coming to the area also tend to go to the suburbs.

Inside the city, something has been done, but much is needed. In 1968, Detroit had 100,000 blighted and overcrowded units. It tore down 6,300 of them, but only 2,200 new housing units went up in their place. Presumably, those displaced had to find living space somewhere in the cramped, two and three story structures on the dark side streets of the inner city which constitute Detroit's slums.

There is fear. It is not as intense as it was after 1967, when suburbanite men made a run on hand guns and taught their wives how to use them in organized classes.

Police Patrols

In 1966, 214 persons were killed in Detroit. In 1969, the figure more than doubled. In the first three months of 1970 there were 90 killings. Only doubled police patrols cooled a frightening flareup of violence in downtown Detroit and that meant police protection had to be scantied elsewhere.

The downtown area, bustling enough at midday, is dead by 10 p.m. A figure on the streets is suspect, to be avoided by a prudent man. Hotel bartender in midtown Detroit warn strangers at night, "whatever you do, don't go down the street."

Two and a half years ago, the automotive companies made much of plans to hire thousands of "hard core unemployables" from the inner city, train them at the firms' and government's expense, and give them jobs. They did that.

Since the program began, industry sources say, roughly 76,000 men have been hired.

But the Big Three have been feeling the tight money pinch and an estimated 9,600 of the hard core recruits have been laid off.

There is glowing talk in the city of what will be done and what can be done, of miniparks along 12th Street, of turning it and other thoroughfares into tree-lined boulevards, of widened recreational facilities, of a revitalization of the city's creaking public transportation system.

But these are promises and Detroit has heard many promises. Even those in power are often more inclined to look at what has happened than to promises past.

Finnish church aids

HELSINKI (UPI) — The Church of Finland has appropriated $189,000 for its foreign aid programs in 1970, church officials said. They said the bulk of the money, which will be followed by a supplementary budget later this year, will be spent on educational and other development aid.

TV CAMEOS: Bernadette Peters

Bernadette's No Longer a Dame at Sea

By MEL HEIMER

HAILED CRITICALLY in the theater for her roles in two of the movies of the 'thirties—the Alice Faye part in "Curly McInnis" and Ruby in "Dames at Sea"—pert, petite Bernadette Peters might easily have found herself type cast and limited to such retrospective period takeoffs. Instead, in the past year or two, she has moved effortlessly into featured billing on top television variety programs like the "Carrie A.C. Coolidge" special with Bing Crosby which will be aired on NBC-TV Monday, April 13.

She is a talented, happy, 22-year-old girl from Ozone Park, Long Island, having a "ball" working with big singing stars he could only admire from afar a few short years ago. Her recent trip to the West Coast to ape the show was her fourth visit to Hollywood—and the last fun.

TALKING ABOUT it in the back Room of the Plaza, her brown eyes were saucer-wide, her hands constantly in motion, and her high, candy-coated voice full of happy awe. "Bing Crosby is wonderful," she said, really nice. He acts with you." He almost unbelievably accentuates on the preposition. "He acted with me . . . and you know, e's such a big star, he doesn't ave to do it. He doesn't have o be that nice."

Doing a father-and-daughter ketch with Crosby "felt marvelous," she said and, of course, he doesn't mind in the least eing the only girl on the special which includes Dean Martin, another of her favorites, with whom she does black-outs during a "Self-Improvement" comedy segment, and comic Flip Wilson, who made her promise o be on the "Tonight Show" when he guest-hosts it.

ON EARLIER trips to the oast, Bernadette had not yet become a recognizable celebrity. This time around she experienced the joy of having established stars spot her. "It's the deest thing that's happened o me so far," she says. "At the Beverly Hills Hotel one day, like Nichols was coming out as was going in. I'd never met him . . . but he smiled and said,

Although she still has a warm spot in her heart for Off-Broadway movie spoofs, pert Bernadette Peters is happiest doing songs and comedy with favorite stars Bing Crosby, Dean Martin and Flip Wilson on April 13 NBC-TV Special, "Cooling It."

"Hello" and I said 'Hello.' It's nice to be recognized like that: it creates . . . well, you know, a kind of bond. When big stars you've looked at on TV as a little girl—like Groucho Marx—do a double take, it's fun!"

THE BUTTON-CUTE, five-foot-three performer combines the confidence of an experienced pro with a genuine ingenuousness and a natural sense of humor. Her current thing is astrology—"February 28th—I'm a Pisces!"—and antique rings—"Only 9 on 6 fingers." Her mouth is tiny, the type usually called, "cupid's bow" or "bee-stung" and it appears smaller because of her strong chin line. "My mouth and feet," she says "get all the reviews." Her creamy skin is flawless. She looks English, has been mistaken for Irish, and actually is from a close-knit Sicilian family. She took her stage name from her father, Peter Lazzara, who has his own one-truck Italian bakery business on Long Island. Bernadette's out-going, stage-struck "Ma," Marguerite Maltese Lazzara, first took her to dancing school in New York when the bright child was three.

BERNADETTE'S CHILDHOOD performing included all the children's TV shows and even, "Name That Tune" (she was then 5½ and won $800). Her first stage role, at 9, was as a son.

Distributed by King Features Syndicate

In "This Is Goggle," which closed in Washington, D.C. At 13, she spent eight months on the road playing Dainty June in "Gypsy." In 1967, as the lead in "The Penny Friend," Off Broadway, she received a nomination for the Vernon Rice Award. That same year she made her Broadway debut in the short-lived, "Johnny No Trump" for which the N.Y. Critics Poll named her "Most Promising New Actress." She left her next, "Curly McInnis" to play Josie Cohan in "George M." for which she received the Theater World Award. "Dames at Sea" which she had done in a brief earlier version, brought her real critical raves.

BERNADETTE sings contemporary music well, acts competently, and has the makings of a comedienne. I asked her which of the three specialties she planned to follow. She looked thoughtful for a second, then asked, hopefully, "Can't I do them all?"

For TV, in addition to top programs, she has done two commercials, one for a cold cream sponsor and another she won't even identify (it's a bra commercial). Now, she is rehearsing two more Kraft shows—she did two previously—and looks forward eagerly to doing two Carol Burnett shows next season.

MARCHING ALONG TOGETHER—Bernadette Peters, Justice William Douglas, facing the Supreme Court in Great Falls, Md., takes annual hike along the river and in Great Falls, Md., with his young son, Cathleen.

Sgt. Carl Jackson New Army Recruiter in Mayfield Area

Sgt. Carl Jackson, a native of Warsaw, Ky., is the new U. S. Army recruiter in Mayfield.

A veteran of 10 years service with the Army, Sgt. Jackson was assigned as Army recruiter in the Mayfield area following one year service in Vietnam.

SGT. CARL JACKSON
NEW RECRUITER

He replaces Sgt. Richard Fahm, former recruiter for 14 months who was assigned to duty in Vietnam.

A graduate of Gallatin Co. High School in Warsaw, Sgt. Jackson also served as recruiter in Maryland prior to his assignment in Vietnam.

The new recruiter will serve the West Kentucky counties of Graves, Marshall and Callaway counties.

Anyone interested in obtaining information concerning enlistment in the Army may contact Sgt. Jackson at the Mayfield Post Office on West Broadway or call number 247-4525.

The recruiter is married to the former Jean Nicholson of Deny, Maryland. The couple are parents of two daughters. The family plans to move to Mayfield as soon as housing is available.

ARREST THIRTEEN

LONDON (UPI)—Police arrested 19 persons Sunday during a demonstration outside the U.S. Embassy protesting alleged American interference in Trinidad. One policeman was injured when he was hit on the head with an iron bar.

VA Reports Brighter Outlook

The Veterans Administration today reported a brighter outlook in the immediate months ahead in its role as guarantor of home loans for veterans.

Administrator of Veterans Affairs Donald E. Johnson said housing starts under the VA program in February climbed to 58,000—the highest annual rate in the past 13 months. This seasonally adjusted figure was seven per cent above January, and 12 per cent above February a year ago.

Johnson said nearly 12,000 applications for G. I. loans were received in February, almost 90 per cent of them from post-Korean veterans.

He explained that housing demands of this group of veterans contributed to the favorable outlook, and was foreseen by loan guaranty officials in VA's budget and appropriations request for fiscal year 1971.

In making that forecast, officials then expressed the view that housing demands would increase. They also acknowledged that the full needs of younger Vietnam era and other post-Korean veterans probably would not be satisfied, even though VA loan activity would increase in fiscal years 1970 and 1971.

The VA administrator also reported that requests for appraisals of newly built homes increased on a seasonally adjusted annual rate to 142,000 in February. This compares with 141,000 requests in January 1970, and 132,000 in February last year.

The seasonally adjusted annual rate for home loan applications was 196,000 in February, up from 193,000 in January, Johnson noted.

He added that loan applications for existing homes reached an annual rate of 124,000 in February, an increase of 4,000 over January's annual rate.

PROXMIER TESTIFIES

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Sen. William Proxmire, D-Wis., testified Monday that the United States should copy Germany's Ruhr Valley by charging industries for the waste they dump into waterways.

Proxmire told the Senate subcommittee on air and water pollution the system has been in effect since 1904 and "has not only prevented the Ruhr from becoming an open sewer (but) has maintained a level of water quality which permits fishing and other forms of recreational activity."

NEW MAN IN NUMBERS GAME—Dr. Curtis Tarr, 45, looks optimistic in Washington as new director of Selective Service. Gen. Lewis B. Hershey (left), head of the service since its inception in 1940, is now an advisor to President Nixon on manpower mobilization.

Spring Is Season To Try Something New—Porklets!

Spring, the time for new flowers, new styles and new interests, is also a good season for trying new meat cuts to update family dining. Your meat retailer may display porklets which are pork cubed steaks. If so, put some in your shopping cart; if not, make inquiry. Porklets are delicious when prepared in such a variety of ways that it may be hard to choose just one recipe, according to Reba Staggs, home economist for the National Live Stock and Meat Board. They're especially tasty when breaded.

Breaded Porklets

6 porklets (pork cubed steaks)
2 eggs
1/4 cup milk
1/2 teaspoon sage
1 1/2 teaspoons salt
1/2 teaspoon pepper
1 1/4 cups fine dry bread crumbs
1/4 cup lard or drippings

Beat eggs slightly and add milk. Mix sage, salt and pepper with crumbs. Coat porklets with crumbs, dip in egg mixture, then in crumbs again.

Brown in lard or drippings. Cook at a moderate temperature 20 to 25 minutes or until done, turning occasionally to insure even cooking. 6 servings.

Imitations are too good

LONDON (UPI)—Member of Parliament Brian Batsford says he will ask the government to restrict the sale of its imitation decimal coins intended to aid sales clerks prepare for the money changeover next year. He says he has learned the practice coins are being widely used as slugs in vending machines.

SOVIET MANEUVERS

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The largest maneuvers in Soviet naval history are in progress in the Mediterranean, Norwegian and Philippine seas and the North Atlantic and Indian oceans, the Defense Department said Monday.

The Pentagon said that for the first time the helicopter carrier Leningrad has sailed into the Atlantic. It said two groups of Soviet ships may meet in the Philippine Sea where they are expected to begin antisubmarine warfare exercises.

Wall Street Chatter

NEW YORK (UPI)—"No immediate end" to the general market decline is in sight, according to Gould's Position. It insists that "better buying opportunities" are still in the future and suggests that investors accumulate reserves for what is to come.

With the long bear market in most stocks now undergoing "another leg downward," the "highly speculative and highly volatile" issues are being especially hard hit, Walston & Co. notes. It points out that some of the dip is a "natural" correction of the "far flung" speculation of several years ago in many "fad" stocks. At the same time, the analyst notes that the market, according to some charts, "is approaching a theoretically oversold area" for the first time since February, thus, "a bit of a rally" may result.

The lack of buying in the stock market is attributed to "everybody... waiting for the other guy to get his feet wet," according to the Alexander Hamilton Institute. The analyst says the market now is "in a bottoming out phase," with some testing of recent lows "but no major selloffs." Therefore, the company adds, investors should make "selectivity" their guiding principle, with any buying limited "to high grade stocks with low price-earnings ratios."

It would be "fool hardy" to buck a market decline of the present "severity" or to attempt to pinpoint a stopping place, Standard and Poor's Corporation maintains. It goes on to say that "there is... no need to do so inasmuch as the market's wounds will take on extended period of time to heal and should preclude any sustained recovery during this convalescence."

1040 U.S. Individual Taxpayers Ask IRS

This column of questions and answers on federal tax matters is provided by the local office of the U.S. Internal Revenue Service and is published as a public service to taxpayers. The column answers questions most frequently asked by taxpayers.

Q I'm moving in a few weeks and my refund hasn't come. What should I do if it doesn't come before I move?

A Give your postmaster your new address so the refund can be forwarded to you. This will assure your refund gets to you promptly.

Thousands of refund checks are held up each year because taxpayers have moved without leaving forwarding addresses. When a check has been returned to IRS by the Post Office, it is held until the taxpayer either writes IRS or files another return giving his new address. The refund is then sent to the taxpayer or applied to any tax he may then owe.

Q If I buy a new tractor for my farm, can I still take the investment credit on it?

A No, the investment credit provision was generally repealed by the Tax Reform Act of 1969. It does not apply to most equipment acquired after April 18, 1969.

Q Is there any change in the Social Security tax rate on household employees?

A The rate is still 4.8 percent for the employee and 4.8

for the employer making a combined rate of 9.6 percent. Anyone who paid a household employee $50 or more in total cash wages during January, February and March should pay 9.6 percent of the total wages to IRS using Form 942, Employee's Quarterly Tax Return for Household Employees. The deadline for paying these taxes is April 30.

Q I was 65 last month. Isn't my boss supposed to stop taking Social Security out of my pay?

A No, employers are required to withhold Social Security taxes on the first $7,800 in wages paid each employee. The age of the employee does not change this requirement.

Q Should I keep the records I used to make out my 1969 tax return?

A Yes, you should keep these records and other information used to prepare your return. If your return is audited, these records will help substantiate items on your tax return.

Q I sent in my tax return without a W-2 from a part-time job. Should I send it in now?

A If you included the income and amount of tax withheld from the Form W-2 on the income tax return you filed, send the W-2 to the IRS for association with your return.

However, if you did not include the wage and tax amounts from the W-2 on your return, then you should file Form 1040X, Amended U.S. Individual Income Tax Return. Fill out this form completely according to the instructions and send it with the W-2 to the Internal Revenue Service Center serving your district. Copies of Form 1040X and instructions are available at local IRS offices.

Q I just put in a retirement plan for myself and the three people I employ in my business. If I take on some summer help, do I have to put them in the retirement plan too?

A No, part-time and summer employees usually do not have to be included in a self-employed retirement plan.

Additional details on these plans may be found in IRS Publication 560, Retirement Plans for Self-Employed Individuals. Send a post card to your local IRS office for a free copy.

BASQUES DEMONSTRATE

MADRID (UPI) — Police broke up antigovernment demonstrations by members of a Basque separatist movement Sunday and arrested 33 persons, including a Roman Catholic priest.

In Guernica, 30 persons were arrested in a Basque demonstration marking the 33rd anniversary of the bombing of the city during the Spanish Civil War.

PLANS NETWORK

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The government plans to build a nationwide network of industrial-type buildings with modern equipment to handle parcels separately from first class and other types of mail, according to Postmaster General Winton M. Blount.

The facilities will speed service and save about $50 million a year, he said. Blount made the comments in a copyrighted interview with U.S. News & World Report.

PLANS CONFERENCE

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Interior Secretary Walter J. Hickel today announced plans for a national antipollution conference in Washington Sept. 29 through Oct. 2.

Hickel said more than 3,000 industry, education and government leaders will be invited to attend in an effort to carry out President Nixon's plea for "a total mobilization" to clean up the environment.
